

Worksheet #8

Narrative Composition

Directions:

Look at the six photos and reread the reflective paragraphs you submitted with each. You will now tell the story of your school life in greater detail in a narrative composition. Select one photograph from the six. This photo will become the basis of your composition. The reflective paragraph you wrote for this photo should be used, and you may want to include parts of the other reflective paragraphs as well. Use this worksheet to draft a narrative hook, or “caption,” a topic sentence, and then expand your ideas into a narrative composition using sensory detail. Remember that your photograph will illustrate your composition and should be the foundation for your writing.
