Story Writing Contest

Agriculture can help promote literacy for life

If you count the number of items that come from farms and ranches in your classroom you'll see the natural connection agriculture has to all of your core subjects. Imagine you and your students have been given 500 acres—what would you grow? Take this opportunity to introduce your students to the world of agriculture and watch them discover the connection between what they are learning in school and their life in the real world.

Meet California State Board of Education Content Standards for grades 3-8 through this creative writing contest! Standards include: Writing 1.0 and 2.0 and Reading 1.0 and 2.0

Imagine one of your students as a published author!

Six state-winning authors, one from each grade, will have their stories published in an illustrated book that will be distributed across the state.

Awards...

Regional Level

Two stories from each grade level will be chosen for regional recognition and awarded:

- Plaque
- Children's literature book about agriculture
- Resources for their teacher

State Level

One story from each grade level will be chosen as the state winner and awarded:

- Medal
- $100 savings bond
- $100 worth of resources for their teacher
- Expense-paid trip to Sacramento for student, teacher and two parents/guardians for an awards ceremony during National Agriculture Week

Deadline: Postmarked by November 1
